ABOUT OUR COMPANY

Mission

To connect the best candidates with the leading employers in the debt collection industry.

Vision

Connection2Collections.com is a professional social network for individuals and employers in the debt collection industry. The site provides the tools and the environment where everyone in the trade can create professional profiles and connect with one another. These profiles will allow them to post their skills, be endorsed by colleagues and co-workers, and includes an interactive training program with compliance and aptitude tests. Users will work their way towards becoming Certified Collection Professionals. Our site will also connect the industry leading employers and the top candidates in the business using our "CollectorConnector" tool. We aim to extend the reach of job opportunities to all individuals across the country and give employers access to the top talent around the country. Our site will provide the environment for long lasting professional connections as well as increasing our users' awareness and education of hot topics, providing overall individual and professional growth.

Values

Stay Educated. Stay Connected. Get Hired.

HOW ARE YOU RECRUITING?

Are you one of the Hiring Managers that is struggling to find the top candidates for your open positions? Spending countless hours scrubbing resumes you got from a Craigslist ad, or worrying about having to pay another $250 to get ONE Monster.com ad up for thirty days and not getting any quality for the price? Well, you're not alone in your struggle. Recruiting and hiring in the debt collection industry is one of the most important, but often overlooked aspects of a successful operation. Wouldn't it be great to have the chance to scrub craigslist[®]

your candidates before you reach out to them for an interview? Wouldn't it be nice to avoid interviews that you knew 2 minutes in were never going to result in a hire for your company? We want to help, and we have developed a product that will revolutionize the way you recruit your staff!

After a year of development, we've created a platform that is tailor-made to meet the needs of both Hiring Managers and Collection Professionals who are looking to find their next, and hopefully last job.

Here is how...

CREATE A COMPANY PROFILE

By creating a Company Profile you are granted access to our database of Collection Industry professionals who are looking for job opportunities across the country! Your profile will display the basic information related to your company, such as; your website, your address, your contact information, the number of employees you have, a brochure about your business, a job application for them to fill out prior to an interview, a brief bio about your company where you can include your Mission, Vision, and Values, as well as a brief description about your company's culture and what they can expect working for your organization.

Company Bio

This is a test Company Profile for people to see how the site works. Feel free to interact with this profile and see how the site's features can truly benefit your company in its recruiting efforts to find the best talent for your team. This bio field is a good way to introduce potential candidates to your profile and to what your company's Mission/Vision and Values are. The hiring process is not just about finding the best candidates, it's also about making your company look like the best place to work so that you can attract the quality your company needs to be the employer of choice!

The site also offers you the ability to post the skills and tools that you look for in a candidate. This feature allows candidates who have experience using the software your company utilizes, or collecting the type of paper you have, to pin point the job openings that best meet their skills. It also allows you to find the talent that fits your open positions.

Job Details

THIS IS NOT A REAL JOB POSTING, JUST AN EXAMPLE

This is where you would put a description of the job, you could explain the daily duties, the role the individual will play in your company. For a Skip Tracer, you may want to include what tools they will use for their skip efforts, or whether they will be required to verify their location information with phone calls. You may want to describe whether they will be managed by the Collection Manager, or work with collectors directly and have the Team Leaders supervise their performance.

You can also include any bonus opportunities that may be available to the skip tracers, especially because it is not always expected in this position.

Inquire about this Job

Forget about the sites that only let you post one job at a time and ask you to pay the full price for every single post or every change! Forget about having to re-post your ad on Craigslist so that it appears on the top of the list! Forget about trying to attract the collection professionals and trying to guess the keywords they may be searching! On our site, you can post up to three jobs, and you can edit them, change them, update them, and customize them to meet your needs! At any time!

You can customize; job titles, the pay structure, the schedule, the requirements (ex. Drug Screen, Livescan, Background Check, etc.) the description of the positions, and even which email address to send inquiries to, and a customizable subject line for the email to help you sort the responses! Each inquiry will come with a link to a Candidate Profile so that you can see if they are a worthy candidate before you even interview them!

THE COLLECTORCONNECTOR TOOL

Search Jobs

Position

Search

The core feature of our site is the CollectorConnector tool. This is the portion of our site that allows our Candidate Profiles to search for available jobs that have been posted by companies on our site. The different fields that they can select from are; State, City, and Position. This allows our users the ability to search for a specific position in their city, but also allows them to search for any available positions in their city or state. The idea is that we want to give your job openings the maximum exposure available, and give our experienced candidates a shot at learning more about your opportunity, and more about your company and the positions that they can apply for.

The results are then listed by the company's average 2Score. This is the average of your existing employees' 2Score who have claimed to work for you on our site. This way, candidates will find the jobs with the companies who have the best staff, and they can rely on the quality of your existing team, to help them assess whether they can find success with your organization.

DON'T JUST WAIT, FIND THE RIGHT ONE!

Don't just sit around and wait for someone to apply to the jobs you've posted, our site offers you a tool that will let you do some of your own head hunting for the next star employee at your company! The same CollectorConnector tool that candidates use to find jobs can be used by the companies to find quality candidates who meet the needs of their firm or agency! The search will allow you to pinpoint states, cities, and candidates who hold specific positions. The results will be listed by the candidates 2Score and will also include a badge to show you if the individual has sponsored their profile or not.

The site provides a 2Score for all candidates. This is a way for you to see how engaged they are with our site, as well as ranking them against their peers. The 2Score is compiled by taking into account; how complete their profiles are, if they've added employment history, if they added specific skills and proficiencies, the number of connections they have, how many endorsements they've been given, whether they have sponsored their profile, and of course, by their performance on our iComply feature which tests their knowledge of industry laws and regulations.

SCREEN YOUR APPLICANTS FIRST

Anyone can write a good resume, but not all resumes tell you the whole story about a candidate. We built this site to help Hiring Managers pinpoint the best applicants, and also disqualify those in the group who don't make the initial cut. It can take hours of reviewing resumes and making calls to determine who is really worth the time to interview. Our site offers you a snapshot of each applicant by visiting their profile page. When a candidate inquires about your job, you will be sent a link to view their profile. The profile includes; a profile picture, their name and location, the number of onsite connections they have, the number of endorsements they've received, their 2Score, whether they are a sponsored candidate or a Certified Collection Professional, and access to their resume.

You will also be able to see their past employers, a brief bio, and the skills and proficiencies that they have listed as their added value traits for your organization. It is then up to you whether you want to make further contact, and bring the candidate in for an interview.
